The programme commenced with a welcome address by Professor In-Charge Dr. Praween Singh Kushwaha, who highlighted the significance of school internship in the B.Ed. curriculum. He emphasized that the internship provides trainee teachers with practical exposure to the real school environment, enabling them to develop essential teaching skills, classroom management techniques, effective student interaction, and a deeper understanding of academic and co-curricular activities.

The technical session was conducted by Dr. Vibha Kumari, who delivered a comprehensive presentation on different dimensions of school internship. She explained the preparation of lesson plans, effective teaching methodologies, the use of Teaching-Learning Materials (TLMs), blackboard writing techniques, time management, classroom discipline, student assessment, participation in co-curricular activities, and the maintenance of school records. She also stressed the importance of professional ethics, teachers' code of conduct, punctuality, discipline, and dedication in the teaching profession.

An interactive session was organized during the workshop, providing trainee teachers with an opportunity to raise their questions and clarify doubts related to the internship programme. The resource persons advised the trainees to establish positive and cooperative relationships with school principals, teachers, students, and other members of the school community. Detailed guidance was also provided on maintaining daily diaries, attendance registers, lesson plan records, and internship reports.

The participants were encouraged to develop effective communication skills, self-confidence, leadership qualities, and innovative teaching practices. The workshop also highlighted the importance of integrating Information and Communication Technology (ICT) into classroom teaching to make learning more engaging and effective.
